“Bakers agree that Carbon Build up on bakery pans and equipment is unsightly, unhygienic and a barrier to heat. As Carbon builds up on the pans, more and more heat is required, thereby slowing down the baking process. Since the layer of Carbon is unevenly distributed over the surface of the pans, the resulting product is uneven”.

Carbon Flakes stick to the bread and alters the taste of the baked goods.

“The D-CARBONATOR heated soak tank provides a method of cleaning baking equipment in the most efficient and cost effective way by simply soaking in the unit”

RACK WASHER:

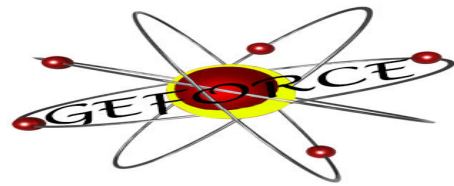

Bakery Rack are often seen by customers and the black carbon Build up is unsightly and unhygienic.

They are extremely time consuming to keep clean because the Carbon Build up is encrusted on the metal

Carbon flakes from the racks often end up on the baked products

Compare the D-CARBONATOR to a Douglas Rack Washer, pan washer and utensil washer. The D-CARBONATOR uses the same water and chemicals for a month at a time and does not require any special installation.
